

Criteria for Internship Experiential Learning	Does Not Achieve	Somewhat Achieves	Adequately Achieves
Reasonable, Authentic Responsibility: Student takes responsibility for assigned work and can articulate the relationship of his/her hands-on activities to larger-scale organizational goals or issues. E.g., asking for clarification or feedback as needed, and working independently as appropriate; student may demonstrate ownership by articulating (orally or in writing) the goals of a project and his/her role in it; and presenting the results of a project to the employer, peers, and/or the UTC faculty member/activity director.	Student responsibility in real world scenario is not clearly stated or required	Description of activity has potential for student responsibility in real world scenario but does not adequately insure ownership	Thorough description of required project involving student responsibility of real world scenario
Reflection for self and other understanding: Student reflects on career and professional skill development, knowledge of the industry or organization, and/or how the internship experience shaped his/her personal or professional goals. E.g. journal or other reflective writing; concluding essay or oral presentation; statement of professional growth through the internship, as in a cover letter or resume description of the position/responsibility.	No description of evaluated reflection products included in application.	Description for plan includes some reflection, but not thoroughly integrated with course or mentorship elements (see below)	Description for plan includes evaluated, iterative, pre, ongoing and post project reflection connected to mentorship
Evidence of mentorship, supervision, and feedback: Mentor responds regularly to student work; supports student reflection, integration of learning through the activity and goal-setting for future learning	Description of project does not mention mentorship	Description includes potential for mentorship or partially describes mentorship	Thorough description of all mentorship elements
