

“Integrating East Asia into Tennessee Middle and High School History and Geography Courses”

All sessions will be based upon Tennessee geography and history standards and include pedagogical tools and strategies.

Workshop Schedules

Saturday, January 10	Saturday, February 7
Workshop 1: Oak Ridge High School in Oak Ridge, TN 8:15 am 9:00 am: Continental Breakfast 9:00 am–10:15 am: “Japan and China’s Physical Geographies: A Comparison ” Ronald Kalafsky, University of Tennessee Geography Department 10:15 am–10:30 am: Break 10:30 am–11:45 am: “Early Japan: East Asian Influences,” Lucien Ellington, University of Tennessee at Chattanooga Asia Program 11:45 am–12:50 pm: Lunch and Introduction to Web-based East Asia Teaching Sites, Ronald Kalafsky, Lucien Ellington, and Asami Nakano. 1:00 pm–2:15pm: “Japanese Traditional Culture: Hands-On Activities,” Asami Nakano, UTC Japan Outreach Initiative Coordinator. 2:15pm–2:30pm: Break 2:30pm–3:45pm: “Tokugawa and Early Meiji Japan,” Sidney Lu, UTC History Department 3:45pm–5:00pm: “Digital Strategies for Teaching Chinese History,” Lucien Ellington and Sidney Lu	Workshop 2: Oak Ridge High School in Oak Ridge, TN 8:15 am 9:00 am: Continental Breakfast 9:00 am–10:15 am: “Japan and China’s Human Geographies: A Comparison ” Ronald Kalafsky, University of Tennessee Geography Department 10:15 am–10:30 am: Break 10:30 am–11:45 am: “China’s Cultural Revolution: A Personal Account,” Dr. Juefei Wang, Program Officer for The Freeman Foundation 11:45 am–12:50 pm: Working Lunch with Discussion of the Creation of Japan and East Asia-related Classroom Case Studies. Moderator: Lucien Ellington 1:00pm–2:15pm: “Contemporary Japanese Popular Culture,” Asami Nakano, UTC Japan Outreach Initiative Coordinator. 2:15pm–2:30pm: Break 2:30pm–3:45pm: “Imperial and Postwar Japan,” Sidney Lu, UTC History Department 3:45pm–5:00pm: “Teaching About The Economic Rise of Japan and East Asia,” Lucien Ellington, University of Tennessee at Chattanooga Asia Program

